INTRODUCTION

In this our 50th anniversary year, we thought it appropriate to collect a listing of all publications of the Society for Growing Australian Plants (SGAP) and the Wildflower Society of Western Australia (WSWA). These publications could be either sponsored or supported by branches, regions, or the Federal body; or written by individuals or groups and supported by the above groups. This latter category includes publications by ASGAP Study Groups. The distinctions are quite difficult in the cases of people who are prominent within SGAP but have had books published commercially, ie through a commercial publisher, but with no mention of SGAP/WSWA as publisher or sponsor. We have excluded all such books because our criterion has been that to be included, the publication must be initiated, sponsored or published by SGAP/WSWA. This is also partly for practical reasons, to prevent the list from becoming too unwieldy.

One category of publications which caused us some soul searching was the numerous project reports sponsored by the Wildflower Society of Western Australia, often in conjunction with volunteers of the Bushland Plant Survey Project. While it could be argued that these are more along the lines of a scientific survey rather than a more conventional “book”, they are still work undertaken by an SGAP group aimed at promoting our flora and increasing knowledge of it. For this reason, we included them.

We have not listed most small or ephemeral pamphlets such as may be used to advertise activities of the Society although some of the “plant list for a particular area” type of publication can be less than 10 pages. However, there are some very early brochures, such as those published by the New South Wales Region in 1958, which we have included because of their historical significance.

We are keen to learn of any significant items we have missed and if necessary, will produce an addendum of such material in due course. It is noticeable that many of the publications written in the “early days” of the Society, Branches and Regions, are a guide for people on how to grow Australian plants and provide advice on establishing a “native” garden. It is also very noticeable that some of these have gone through many reprints and revisions, indicating that there is still a demand for this type of information, despite the explosion of books on Australian plants available through bookshops.

Bibliographies are commonly arranged alphabetically under authors and we again considered whether we should retain this format or list books under title. We also discussed keeping publications together by Region, or Branches, or categories, eg “how to establish native gardens”, “plant lists for gardens in different regions”, “local flora lists” etc, or to list them chronologically. No one way seemed best and in the end we opted for listing under five major categories, and within each, by author or the group/branch/region responsible. The use of author headings allows all their work to be kept together including those with minor name changes. These five major headings are:

- ▶ Books initiated/organised/sponsored by Bill Payne and the Publishing Section under the guidance of the Society for Growing Australian Plants, NSW Ltd.
- ▶ Books published by SGAP Regions or Branches, or individuals sponsored by Regions or Branches
- ▶ Books published by ASGAP Study Groups or individuals supported by Study Groups
- ▶ Publications from ASGAP Biennial Conferences and APS Victoria F.J.C. Rogers Seminars
- ▶ Internet Publications

Although SGAP (as it was then) had held Annual Federal Conferences since September 1962, and Biennial Conferences since 1967 (see Walter (2007), p. 217 for a complete list), it wasn't until the Hobart Conference of December 1975 that a "symposium on Australian plants" was included. All subsequent Conferences have incorporated such a Seminar and many have adopted a theme to promote the Conference eg "Grow Local Plants" (Adelaide 1985), "The Brilliance of Australian Plants" (Ballarat 1995) and "Australian Plants in a Changing World" (Canberra 2001). While these are not strictly publications of ASGAP, being more along the lines of compilations of authors papers with minimal editing, they do represent an important resource of Australian plant knowledge. Unfortunately, relatively few are included in more than one or two Australian libraries (those known to be in libraries are marked with an asterisk*) and ASGAP needs to address this situation before it is too late and ensure that copies are provided to at least the National Library in Canberra and major State Libraries. The Conference/Seminar papers are listed below in chronological order.

(a) ASGAP Seminar Papers

SGAP Society for Growing Australian Plants. (1975). Eighth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers, First Federal SGAP Seminar*, held December 1975. Hobart.

SGAP Society for Growing Australian Plants. (1977). Ninth Biennial Federal Conference and Second Federal SGAP Seminar Program – Seminar Papers*, held August 1977. Perth.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1988). Fourteenth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers "The Australian Flora Past, Present and Future", held January 1988. Canberra.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1990). Fifteenth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers*, held January, 1990. Hobart.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1991). Sixteenth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers "Keeping WA the Wildflower State"*, held September 1991. Perth.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1993). Seventeenth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers*, held September 1993. Sydney.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1995). Eighteenth Biennial Federal Conference – Conference Papers "The Brilliance of Australian Plants"*, held September 1995. Ballarat.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1997). Nineteenth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers "Hidden Treasures"*, held September 1997. Adelaide.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (1999). Twentieth Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers "Growing Towards the 21st Century"*, held July 1999. Brisbane.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (2001). Twenty First Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Proceedings “Australian Plants in a Changing World”*, held September 2001. Canberra.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (2004). Twenty Second Biennial Federal Conference – Seminar Papers “Garden in Isolation... Tarns, Tiers and Coastal Dunes”, held January 2004. Launceston.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (2005). Twenty Third Biennial

Federal Conference – Proceedings of the seminar and AJ Swaby address from the 23rd Biennial Conference of the Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants “WWW- The West’s Wonderful Wildflowers”*, held October 2005. Perth.

ASGAP Association of Societies for Growing Australian Plants. (2007). Twenty Fourth Biennial Federal Conference (Celebrating 50 Years of APS/SGAP) – Seminar Papers “Gums to Gullies, Flora in Transition”, held October 2007. Newcastle.

(b) APS Victoria F.J.C. Rogers Seminars

These are held every two years following the initial highly successful one in October 1996. They are organised by various groups within APS Victoria, often with the assistance of ASGAP Study Group members, and are strongly supported by APS Victoria. They commemorate Fred Rogers, well known Victorian plant grower and author who had been concerned that “SGAP should be more active in educating members about a specific group, or group of plants” (Raleigh (1996), cited in Walter (2007), p.205). Each Seminar deals with a specific genus or family of plants and since the first, a booklet has been produced, either specifically for the group under discussion and/or containing the papers presented at the Seminar. Garden and bush visits are always included in the Seminar programme, and often plant and seed sales. The Seminars are very popular and regularly attract visitors from interstate but once again, most of the earlier ones are not held in libraries and again, ASGAP needs to pursue this matter actively, as with the Federal Conference Seminar Papers. The F.J.C Rogers Seminar Papers are listed below in chronological order.

Raleigh, Royce. (1996). Hakea. Booklet produced for the First F.J.C. Rogers Seminar (also known as the “Hakea Weekend”), sponsored by Wimmera Growers of Australian Plants. Held October 1996. Horsham.

*Small ornamental eucalypt seminar. (Edited by Kevin Sparrow). (1998). Booklet produced for the Second Biennial F.J.C. Rogers Seminar, sponsored by SGAP Hamilton and SGAP Warrnambool. Held September 1996. Hamilton.

Grevilleas. (Edited by Neil Marriott). (2000). Booklet produced for the Third Biennial F.J.C. Rogers Seminar, sponsored by APS Grampians and ASGAP Grevillea Study Group. Held November 2000. Ararat.

Boronias, Correas and other Fragrant Friends. (2002). Booklet produced for the Fourth Biennial F.J.C. Rogers Seminar, sponsored by APS Foothills, Karwarra Australian Plant Garden and ASGAP Boronia and Allied Genera Study Group. Held November 2002. Lilydale.

► Internet Publications

Even though Brian Walters had established a web site for the New South Wales Region in mid 1995, later extended to ASGAP from the end of 1995, and other regions and groups have subsequently set up their own sites, in this bibliography we are only interested in the Society’s online publications. These include

Australian Plants Online and the newsletter Gumnuts. Australian Plants Online began in March 1996 and Gumnuts in December 1997 and both went into recess in September and November 2004 respectively. The early history of both online publications is told by John Walter (Walter 2007, pp. 138-9) and reference should be made to this. Both publications have now been re-established in modified formats and details of the web sites at which they may be accessed are given below.

THE AUTHORS

Tony Cavanagh

Tony Cavanagh joined the Society for Growing Australian Plants in 1972. From his early attempts to find information on the then obscure group of Australian plants Dryandra, he has had a long-term interest in collecting publications on Australian plants and in reviewing books which promote our flora. He conceived the idea of this checklist following the publication of John Walter's history of SGAP. While this mentioned well over 100 items published by SGAP and its members, Tony found that nowhere was there a consolidated list and many early items were in danger of being forgotten. We hope that you find our checklist useful in highlighting the publishing achievements over the last 50 years of SGAP Groups, Branches, Regions and individuals.

John Walter

This project is in some ways a natural progression from my research into the history of the Society and the subsequent publication of a comprehensive history for its 50th anniversary. I began researching the history of our society while secretary of the Victorian Region in 1997 and started 'collecting' the Society's publications around the same time. I soon realized that these publications represented a large percentage of all publications on our native flora, particularly in the period from 1960 to the mid 1980's. I fervently believe that it is important to preserve the work of this society for future generations and the preparation of this bibliography will greatly enhance this process.

Jan Sked

Jan Sked joined SGAP Queensland Region in 1970 and has been an active and committed member ever since. She has had a particular interest in the local flora of south-eastern Queensland and in publishing information about Australian native plants. She has been Editor of the SGAP Qld. Region Newsletter, the "Bulletin", for the past 30 years and during that time has authored a number of publications about Australian native plants.

In recognition of her long and dedicated commitment to furthering the knowledge and promotion of Australian native plants and the environment, both within the SGAP and to the general community, Jan has received several awards – Pine Rivers Shire Citizen of the Year in 1990, Honorary Life Membership of SGAP Qld. Region in 1999, Queensland Natural History Award in 2005 and the ASGAP Australian Plants Award in 2007.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In producing this checklist, we would like to thank all the authors over the last fifty years for writing the items on which it is based and thus furthering our knowledge of Australian plants. We would also like to thank Brian Walters for advice on electronic publishing issues and for alerting us to several publications we had not recorded. We are pleased that ASGAP has supported its publication and we look forward to the next stage of building an archive collection of all SGAP publications.
